Parents Anonymous program begins

Parents Anonymous, a progam offering Parent Support and Parent Education for families who want to learn more effective ways of living together constructively, is the largest national program for child abuse in the world.

The program had its beginning 11 years ago by an abusive mother and her social worker. It is a treatment and prevention resource which a community can provide for its parents.

There are 1,300 chapters of Parents Anonymous around the world.

"We need so much more public education to make parents aware. It takes a great deal of courage for a parent to seek help and to admit that he or she has a problem," commented Johanna Schuchert, State Coordinator of Parents Anonymous for Virginia.

"It is a strength to admit he or she needs to take advantage of the resources in his community," she continued.

Parents Anonymous is an organization of parent helping parents, a Self-Help Concept. Parents gain support from each other with the help and guidance of trained professionals.

"Statistics show that 92 percent of all persons serving time in prison were abused or neglected as a child," said Mrs. Schuchert, "And one half of all runaways are running from abusive homes."

There are six forms of abuse and neglect according to Mrs. Schuchert. They are: (1) Physical abuse; (2) Physical neglect; (3) Emotional abuse, (negative emotional attitude, continually feeling like a failure); (4) Emotional neglect; (5) Verbal Abuse (in which the hurt is stored inside, can be just as destructive as a broken home); and (6) Sexual abuse.

Parents Anonymous is totally supported and maintained by volunteers and volunteer professionals. The first chapter in Virginia was begin in 1974.

Individuals interested in working with Parents Anonymous may call Mrs. Carol Bradley at 352-5957 for further information.
